SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, July 29—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker ordered his troops to "fight to the death" today in a dramatic front line visit.

The fighting field commander of all U. S. and U. N. forces battling the Communist invasion of South Korea ordered his men to hold without giving up "another inch of ground." Gen. Walker flew in an observation plane from his headquarters to the battle zone of the First Cavalry Division and 25th Infantry Division to get a first hand appraisal of the battle situation.

His plane landed on a village street not far from the front.

He emotionally exclaimed: "Surrender is impossible. We must hold on to the line we now have."

He warned his men not to surrender because to be a prisoner of the Communists would be "a fate worse than death."

The two-fisted general then said: "There is no chance for a Dunkirk, even if we were so disposed. Surrender is impossible. We have got to keep fighting."

A committee to complete plans for the outing was named by the master. This includes Mrs. R. Walker Jackson, Charles D. Lowmes and Miss Marie Adams.

The entire meeting, which was attended by about 30 persons, was devoted entirely to the transaction of business, which included committee reports. WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The North Koreans were reported to have decided on their invasion only a short time before launching their attack. This and the fact that shipments of Soviet tanks and planes were not delivered to the North Koreans until six weeks before the outbreak of hostilities were cited by intelligence officers as the explanation for their failure to detect the enemy's intentions.

The "heroic" defense put up by United States troops in Korea was lauded in the United Nations Security Council by Britain, France, Nationalist China, Cuba, Ecuador and India. A prompt appeal to United Nations members for relief contributions to aid 750,000 to 1,000,000 South Korean refugees was planned. Most delegates took a calmer view of the Soviet Union's surprise announcement of its return to the Security Council next Tuesday.

To bolster the defenses of Western Europe, an accelerated program of arms production is needed, the deputies of the North Atlantic Council declared after four days of conferences.

TRAFFIC DEATHS SHOW DECREASE

First Five Months Report
546 Fatalities As Against
558 in 1949

TRAVEL SHOWS JUMP

Traffic deaths in Pennsylvania during the first five months of this year have shown a definite decrease in comparison with the same period last year, reports J. E. Smiley, of the Bureau of Highway Safety.

The first five months of this year saw 546 fatalities, while in 1949 the same months registered 558 highway deaths.

"With registration and gasoline consumption at the highest ever recorded, miles of travel in Pennsylvania have soared to an all-time high," Mr. Smiley said. "The savings in pedestrian lives during this five month period is beyond our most optimistic expectations," he added.

The month of May had the lowest fatality list of any May month in 22 years, with the exception of 1945. Usually about 132 persons lose their lives on the highways during May, but this year the figure was 100.

Deaths in Bucks county remained unchanged with 10 fatalities recorded for this year and last. Twenty-nine counties showed an increase.

other violence. Belgian occupation troops in Germany are to be recalled in view of the deteriorating situation.

President Truman asked Congress for an additional $600,000,000 to increase the nation's stockpile of strategic materials. The White House also moved to augment synthetic rubber production by 100,000 tons annually and to put into active service more than 200 ships of the reserve merchant fleet.

An amendment to Mr. Truman's economic mobilization bill authorizing controls over prices and wages and a system of rationing will be considered by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on Monday. There was a rise in sentiment in Congress in favor of such an amendment.

Tentative approval of the $15,531,314,821 funds sought before the invasion of South Korea to run the armed services was voted in the Senate. Committees in the Senate and House continued their study of the additional $10,500,000,000 sought by Mr. Truman last Monday to increase the nation's military might.

TO ADVERTISE FOR BRIDGE BIDS MONDAY; BIDS WILL BE FOR THE FOUNDATIONS AND THE SUPERSTRUCTURE; ESTIMATES OPENED AUG. 31ST

MORRISVILLE, July 29—Defense needs have speeded up plans for the new $10,000,000 Delaware river bridge that will join Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, meeting in Harrisburg Thursday, voted to advertise for bids Monday on the bridge foundations and superstructure. The estimates will be presented Aug. 31 at the commission offices in the Broad St. National Bank building in Trenton.

Robert A. Haney, commission controller, said that the new bridge will be an important link in the Philadelphia-New York defense system. He pointed out that during the last war only the Easton-Phillipsburg span was suitable to handle the movement of heavy anti-aircraft equipment.

Other bridges, such as the Camden-Philadelphia bridge, were strong enough, but the heavily populated approaches made its use impractical.

Clear, high speed approaches will be built at the new Morrisville bridge, which is to be an arched span without any overhead steel structure to conform to architecture on the Trenton Freeway.

The bridge will connect the Freeway with the Lincoln highway at a point west of Morrisville.

Residents of Monroe street in Morrisville have started receiving notices to move out within 60 days. The houses on the street will be torn down and the approach in the area will rise above ground level. A number of residents of Morrisville recently lost a fight in the state and federal courts to keep the bridge off Monroe street.

On the Jersey side the highway department is going ahead with plans for the approach across S. Broad street to the river. Properties on Bloombury, Lambertson and S. Warren streets were acquired without resort to condemnation proceedings.

The new bridge will be located between the railroad bridge and the present lower span.

Haney said that the commission will issue $14,500,000 in bridge bonds to cover the cost of the span and $2,000,000 for acquiring rights-of-way in both states. Also to be included in the bond issue will be $4,000,000 for construction costs of approaches at the Easton bridge, and $700,000 for the retirement of present commission bonds.

The First Mechanics National Bank of Trenton is bond trustee for the commission.

At the recent Harrisburg conference were: From Pennsylvania: Alexander R. Miller, chairman, Charles Barber, Pennsylvania State treasurer, Weldon Heyburn, Pennsylvania auditor general; Ray F. Smock, Pennsylvania secretary of highways, and R. Chapman Carver.

From New Jersey: C. Stanley Stults, vice chairman; John Elder, treasurer; Louis deValliere, Henry T. Shelly.

WOULD LIKE BUCKS TO BE 4TH CLASS COUNTY

Deputy Clerk, Quarter Sessions, Says 6,000 More Population Would Help

MARK IS 150,000

DOYLESTOWN, July 29—That 6,000 more population would help put Bucks County among the fourth class counties, a jump from the fifth where it now stands, is a reminder given by Deputy Clerk of Quarter Sessions Walter C. Schroeder, of Furlong. Mr. Schroeder claims it is too bad that Bucks doesn't have another good-sized borough to bring about the change in classification.

The Court House official, who recalled that the 1950 census is 144,234, pointed out that it would have taken less than 6,000 more to reach the 150,000 population mark. The 1940 census was 107,715 persons.

"Because we are so close to Trenton, N. J., and Philadelphia we do the work of a fourth-class county, but draw the pay of fifth-class county officials," said the deputy clerk, who pointed out that the Quarter Sessions Court office handles more criminal cases each year.

"Then, too, many taxpayers and residents of the county forget the exorbitant cost of crime when it comes to paying for the keep of many criminals who come from Philadelphia and Trenton, N. J., who are now in penal institutions, but whose maintenance is being paid for by Bucks county taxpayers," said Deputy Schroeder. Three more gangsters will have to be paid

Corn and Other Feeds Found

PIPERSVILLE, July 29—Federal agents of the Alcohol Tax Unit have almost finished dismantling one of the largest illegal stills ever found in this section of the state, an elaborate $50,000 plant that could produce 1614 proof gallons daily.

The moonshine producers had cheated the government out of $14,500 a day on the illegal alcohol, which was made in an old barn on the Segletes farm in Tinticum township, five miles north of Pipersville.

The plant had recently been closed down because of the sugar shortage, but a 11,500 pound load from the New York black market had recently arrived at the site.

Agents discovered that the plant had no intentions of letting the sugar shortage interfere with operations, for in a large wagon shed a short distance from the barn they found more than 200 bags of corn and other feeds that could be used in making the alcohol without sugar.

The dozen agents who were investigating the setup said that it was one of the biggest ever discovered. An intricate water system had been installed recently leading from a well near the Segletes' dwelling to the barn. A network of pipes had been laid from the automatic well pump to the distillery, and the ditches filled in and covered with grass.

An electrical alarm system was

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Charles E. Finch Pastor Church of Redeemer, Andalusia

Give salvation and strength, O King of saints, to those who, being persecuted for righteousness' sake, are in great tribulation; and grant that these thy followers, loving not their lives unto the death and leaving all to follow thee, may overcome by the word of their testimony, and overcoming, may inherit all things. Amen.

Blessed Saviour, who upon the Cross didst pray for thy persecutors, saying, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do," look upon them that in ignorance are now persecuting thy suffering brethren, open the eyes of them that are blinded by the powers of darkness, convince them of their sin, and bring them to repentance, that they may turn to thee and be saved. Amen.

RESTORE STATUE

PATRAS, Greece — (INS) — One of the sculptured masterpieces of ancient Greece — the Hermes of Praxiteles — is to be restored to its mountainside niche after being hidden for ten years. Like all of Greek's art treasures which could be moved, the famed statue was created up and shipped to a hiding place when Greece was invaded during World War II. Hermes now will resume his peaceful abode in Olympia where the first Olympic games were held.
